

Announcements for Thursday, January 26, 2023

- ❖ Attention 11/12th graders: First Coast Technical College showcase fieldtrip is scheduled for February 7th from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Interested 11th & 12th grade students can explore two career programs of their choice for a hands-on-career after high school. This showcase is free and bus transportation will be provided to and from this event. Applications for this field trip will be available on Monday in the main Guidance area. Applications are due in 9th grade Guidance by TOMORROW. Please feel free to follow up with Mrs. Graham for more information.

- ❖ Any student interested in joining chorus next year is welcome to talk to Ms. Mattingly in the chorus room. Available classes include both open enrollment and auditioned groups. New for next year is a contemporary a cappella class! Also offered next year are AP Music Theory and Pre-AP Music.

- ❖ Auditions for Singing Valentines will be held next week. Auditions are open to all students at Bartram. Form a small group and choose a fun, upbeat song, one minute or less, a cappella or with acoustic instrumental accompaniment (ukelele, guitar, etc.) Auditions will be held next Monday after school or Tuesday before school. See Ms. Mattingly in the chorus room, Performing Arts Hallway Room 239 to sign up, or if you have questions!

- ❖ Hola Bears! Are you taking Spanish and struggling, or do you just want extra help to boost your grade? The Hispanic Honor Society offers free Spanish tutoring every morning at 8:45am in Portable 15, Mrs. Smith's room. Tutoring began Tuesday, January 24th, they will also offer afternoon tutoring on Wednesdays after school in the Media Center. Ask your Spanish teacher for more information!

- ❖ "Bartram Celebrates Literacy Spirit Week!" This week the entire district will take part in a Spirit Week. Students and teachers, here are our dress-up days!
 - Friday: "HATS ON" for Reading
